

ITALIAN SITUATION CLEARING, WILSON'S ACTION EVERYWHERE ENDORSED, WASHINGTON HEARS

London Treaty Did not Provide for Cession of Fiume to Italy, Says Statement Issued by Secretary Lane, but was to go to Croatia, now Part of Jugo-Slavia.

BREAK IN RELATIONS CONSIDERED UNLIKELY

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 26.—The Italian situation in the peace negotiations is "clearing rapidly," according to advice from Paris received today at the White House. It was stated that the action taken by President Wilson was "endorsed everywhere." Just what developments were taking place was not disclosed, but it was evident that as a result of the message the tension which has prevailed in administration quarters for the past three days was considerably relaxed.

Secretary Lane today issued a brief statement explaining, as he said, "one or two matters connected with the Fiume situation that should not be overlooked." He said Fiume was not to be given to Italy by the secret treaty made on Italy's entrance into the war, called the London treaty. Under this treaty Fiume was to go to Croatia, which is now a part of Jugo-Slavia, and this is where President Wilson wishes it to go now.

"The question of giving Fiume to Italy," he said, "thus becomes a question of good judgment and President Wilson and Premier Lloyd George and Clemenceau unitedly concluded that to give Fiume to Italy would be unjust to the new republic east of the Adriatic, as Fiume is the only port on the eastern side of the Adriatic which can be serviceable as a sea entrance to Jugo-Slavia and adjoining countries."

PARIS, Friday, April 25.—The peace conference has been severely shaken by the Italian crisis and the extent to which its work will be affected is receiving the anxious attention of the delegates. The American storm has broken and the air has cleared in that quarter, but in other quarters a less optimistic view is taken, the feeling being that an element of confusion has been introduced which will result in more or less delay at the moment the German delegates are arriving. In French and Italian circles the situation is regarded as serious and some quarters even represented as desperate, but this extreme view is not generally held.

Some of the committees met today with the Italian members present, and the secretariat of the American delegation said no notice had been received of the withdrawal of Italian participation. Pending formal action no break in relations would be assumed, it was added, but the departure of three of the Italian delegates and announcement of the departure of Foreign Minister Scianino and Foreign Minister Salandra, to occur Saturday, caused a situation as it is not known whether Italy will be represented at the plenary session of the conference Monday when parts of the treaty, including the League of Nations covenant, will be finally passed upon.

GENERAL CROPS NOT MUCH DAMAGED BY FROST IS OPINION

County Farm Agent Sprinkle Has Not Yet Examined Fruit Trees However.

The weather forecast for tonight predicts a heavy, killing frost. The weather bureau has not yet made an announcement of when the present cold spell will break up but Sunday is expected to be warmer.

County Farm Agent P. H. Sprinkle said this morning that while he has not yet examined any fruit he does not believe the crop has been hurt to great extent. He expects to look over some trees to determine to what extent the frost did kill.

"On some of the cold weather hasn't done very much harm to the general crop," he said, "although it might withhold them somewhat."

"He said the wheat, clover and wheat had not been damaged and that early potatoes were also safe. Although the frost may retard them somewhat, he said, he did not believe it was serious enough to cause a great deal of damage."

Examination of some trees locally shows that cherries have suffered to a certain extent. While in some instances the crop has been blighted, there are other instances where no damage whatever has been done.

PREMIERS NOT WITH WILSON IN HIS STAND

By Associated Press.

PARIS, April 26.—The report that Premier Clemenceau and Lloyd George approved of President Wilson's statement on the Adriatic problem was declared inaccurate in an official statement issued today. The text of the official statement reads:

"The report that Premier Clemenceau and Premier Lloyd George approved of President Wilson's statement is inaccurate. The statement was read to Mr. Clemenceau and Mr. Lloyd George and President Wilson informed them he intended to issue it. Mr. Clemenceau and Mr. Lloyd George were anxious that Mr. Wilson should postpone the publication in the hope that an arrangement might be arrived at."

DOCTORS FIRM

In Their Stand Against All Means of Distributing Habit-Forming Drugs.

The physicians of Connellsville have placed themselves squarely on record as favoring any and every effort that may be made by the federal authorities or otherwise to prevent the distribution of habit-forming drugs.

At the last meeting of the Young Medical Society club vigorously worded resolutions were adopted in disapproval of the actions of certain physicians who are reported to be engaged in this illegal and obnoxious practice. Lamenting the spread of a report reflecting upon their profession and regretting that "two or three physicians of Connellsville" should "engage in this degrading practice," the resolutions declared "that the vast majority of the physicians of the city are too honorable and have not and do not and will not lower their moral and professional ethical standard by committing such a grave professional misdemeanor."

VILLA ASSEMBLING MEN

Rebel Leader Will Make Attempt to West Chihuahua from Carranza.

By Associated Press.
EL PASO, April 26.—Francisco Villa is concentrating all the troops under his command in the state of Chihuahua in an effort to wrest control of the state from the Carranza government, re-establish a provisional rebel government similar to the Villa government of 1915 and try to rally the various rebel bands throughout Mexico to his banner. This became known today with the arrival of refugees from Parral.

To finance his revolutionary movement Villa plans, it is said, to force the foreign mining, smelter and fueling companies in northern Mexico, especially American corporations, to pay heavy tribute in return for protection.

PROSPECT FINE FOR "A WINTER GARDEN FROLIC"

Big Demand for Seats For Home-coming Benefit at Soisson Theater.

FIRST SHOW ON MONDAY

Many Well-known Young Folks of the City in Cast of Musical Revue to Be Presented Three Days to Boost Fund for the Soldiers' Celebration.

Reservation of seats for "A Winter Garden Frolic," the home talent production to be staged Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at the Soisson theater for the benefit of the home-coming celebration for the service men and women, began yesterday at the Soisson with a rush that indicates the play will be well patronized the three nights of its presentation. That they who witness the production will have no regrets for the time and money expended may be assured from a perusal of the cast of characters and the program. It is to be a real winter garden show, along the lines of the metropolitan productions, says the director, C. M. Couch of Pittsburgh, and those associated with him in staging it.

Scenery has been secured from the Alvin theater, Pittsburgh, and the costumes hired in Philadelphia. The latter arrived yesterday. The scenery was to come today. A full rehearsal will be held this evening at the Carnegie library hall. The show is being put on under the direction of a committee composed of Mrs. H. Claude Hays, chairman; Mrs. James B. Rapoport, program; W. A. O'Brien, R. A. Neville and Joseph D. Hood. The cast of characters and the program follow:

Unusually brilliant was the second annual Easter dance of the Unity Fraternity held last night in the armory. The dance was not only the largest but was one of the most enjoyable social functions held here in recent years. One hundred and eighty-five couples, including members of Connelville's social set, and a number of out-of-town guests attended and indulged in dancing from 8:30 to 2 o'clock this morning. The grand march which took place at 9 o'clock was led by D. Kirk Dilworth, Jr., president of the fraternity, and Miss Ethel Flenniken. The affair was perfect in all its appointments, a noteworthy feature being the elaborate decorations which were carried out in Japanese effect. Never did the spacious auditorium present a more beautiful or gay scene. Depending from the arched ceiling were eight large Japanese lanterns, while hanging from the center of the ceiling was a Japanese umbrella to which many small oriental lanterns, forming a shower effect, were attached. Fastened to the handle of the umbrella was a gold bowl which contained four electric lights. The many lights around the side of the auditorium were capped with Japanese shades. Over the balcony was the Unity Fraternity emblem, festooned with purple and gold, the "frat" colors. In the rear of the hall was a large banner on which was inscribed "Unity Fraternity" surrounded with clusters of lilacs. The handsome gowning of the ladies added to the brilliancy of the scene. Music by Kiefer's seven-piece orchestra was rendered, the program including all the latest dance numbers. A delicious buffet luncheon was served.

The regular meeting of the Ladies' Aid society of the Methodist Protestant church will be held Thursday afternoon in the church. All members are requested to attend.

Miss Irene Hopkins of Connelville is a member of the committee in charge of the Panhellenic dance at the University of Pittsburgh, given last evening at the William Penn hotel. Miss Hopkins represented the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority on the committee.

THOUSANDS OF PERSONS VISIT TROPHY TRAIN

spectators. In this manner about $6,000 in bonds were sold.

The larger field pieces, mines, trench mortars, machine guns and shells were exhibited on open flat cars in order that they may be viewed at night the cars are equipped with electric lights.

Two constant streams of persons filed through the train steadily during its stay on the siding.

One interesting exhibit on the cars was a German anti-aircraft gun mounted on a motor truck. The truck had been entirely destroyed by a direct hit of the American artillery. The machine had solid rubber tires on its wheels, which were imported by Germany from America years before the war started.

The guns were of various armies, representing Russia, Germany and the French. A large German floating mine and a United States mine were among the larger trophies, also a monster German submarine torpedo which was picked up by the British.

Other interesting features were photographs taken in Belgium and the smaller weapons.

The train, crew and the sailors and soldiers connected with the train, numbering 24 in all, were given breakfast by the Red Cross canteen committee in the dining room of the First Presbyterian church. They were taken to and from the church in automobiles.

Campaign Manager Robert Norris this morning urged that all canvassers keep up their work until next Wednesday when the noon luncheon will be resumed, continuing throughout Thursday and Friday. It is desired that a big total be reported at noon on Wednesday and to make it come as close to the district's quota as possible every one will put forth their greatest effort.

The teams are still running behind their record of the Fourth Liberty loan. On the fourth day in the last drive the collectors reported a total of $689,200 together with 2,184 subscribers, as compared with $502,150 reported yesterday and 2,076 subscriptions.

It was not possible to complete the audit to date as several team captains did not turn in their reports yesterday. This audit will be completed before the next noon lunch.

Although no complete reports have been heard from any of the outlying districts some news filtering through shows the canvassers outside are working.

CENTRAL STATION PLANS READY NEXT COUNCIL MEETING

Uts, who proposes to extend the north end of the building about 10 or 12 feet on the west side. This would give more cell room in the basement, and also make plenty of space for housing the big truck.

The firemen's quarters would be in some of the vacant rooms on the second floor. A closed porch could be erected on the roof of the extension for the firemen.

The mayor said he would rather see a fire station built on the city grounds in order to centralize the fire and police departments. Councilman Uts, however, points out that the cost of remodeling the present municipal building would be much less and would serve the same purpose for centralizing the departments.

Councilman Uts said his plans were to locate both the hook and ladder truck in the city hall and leave the smaller truck on the West Side. If, however, it was desired to bring all the equipment to the new station provision for housing it could be made, he said. There is no doubt but what the matter will be taken up at the next council meeting, and the citizens of the city are watching with interest what action will be taken by that body.

Should the proposal to remodel the city building be blocked, the shifting of the fire department to a more central location would be defeated for the reason that the city does not have the money to erect a new building, nor is it considered wise in the face of the present high cost of materials which has caused a halt in building all over the country.

DAWSON MEN BANQUET

Cochran Church Scene of Delightful Event Thursday Evening.

One of the most delightful social events in the life of the Cochran Memorial church at Dawson was the banquet given Thursday night for the men by the Ladies' Aid society of the church, about 70 men of the church attending. After the meal an interesting program of after dinner addresses was given. The speakers were Prof. E. J. Enos, who talked on "Influence," Prof. Keller, "What the Church Needs From Her Young Men," Prof. Whitmoyer, "What the Church Offers to Young Men," and R. K. Smith, "The Bible Class and Its Challenge to Men." Other interesting speakers were Dr. Appleton Bush, on the contemporary movement, and Dr. George B. Farrar.

The final event of the evening was the presentation of a purse to John O. Thomas of Youngstown, O., formerly of Dawson. Mr. Thomas was financial secretary of the Dawson church for over 30 years. The pastor, Rev. H. A. Baum, made the presentation address, passing the purse to J. A. Crawford, who presented it to Mr. Thomas.

SHOE CONSERVATION

W. H. Kelley, a lumber salesman, of Omaha, found Neolin Soles so tough and durable that one pair of soles served on a second pair of uppers after the first pair of soles had worn out in ten months of hard walking. And he says, "Those same soles will stand another ten months of constant daily wear."

This is unusual service even for Neolin Soles but Mr. Kelley's experience should indicate to you a method of cutting down those rising shoe bills you have to meet. Simply make sure the new shoes you buy are Neolin-soled and have worn shoes repaired with these soles which are scientifically made to be comfortable, waterproof and exceedingly long-wearing. They are made by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company, Akron, Ohio, who also make Wingfoot Heels, guaranteed to outwear any other heels.

DEPENDENCY THE TEST

By Which Award of Compensation is to be Determined by the Board.

The State Compensation Board has announced in the claim of Settlement vs. Pennsylvania railroad, a Greensburg case, that "the law never intended that a dependent father and mother should be prevented from receiving assistance upon the death of a son, merely because, somewhere there lives a woman to whom he had at one time been married, but who at the time of his death was in no way dependent upon him and was not living with him."

The contention was raised that the mother, although dependent, was barred because there was a widow who was separated from the son. The board in an opinion by Chairman Harry A. Mackey, says: "It would be an absurdity to think that the law was drawn with the intention of depriving dependent parents of compensation under such circumstances. Compensation is based upon dependency and not relationship."

A new hearing is ordered in Mudri vs. American Manganese Manufacturing company, Dunbar, it being held that the referee's findings are "too meager."

ILLINOIS COAL

To Be Used Exclusively in a New By-Product Plant Near St. Louis.

A $6,000,000 plant for the manufacture of coke from exclusively Illinois coal will be erected at once at Granite City, Ill., near St. Louis, Mo. This project, which represents the first instance of the coking of Illinois coal without mixture with other coals on a large scale, will be carried out by a company formed for the purpose under the name of the St. Louis Coke & Chemical company. Roberts type ovens will be used.

The principal interest in the new company is the Studebaker corporation of South Bend, Ind. The latter concern and the National Enameling & Stamping company of Granite City will take the greater portion of the coke output of the new plant and practically the entire output of a pig iron plant which is to be operated in conjunction with the coking plant.

The coal for the new ovens would be obtained from nearby mines at Caseyville and Collinsville, because of the short haul. The new company has purchased a 200-acre tract and will erect a battery of 80 coke ovens and a 550-ton blast furnace.

Lithuania Produces Peat.
Lithuania, the republic asking for recognition of its independence, is rich in peat and the deposits are large and numerous. The inhabitants have used peat as fuel for a long time. It represents a source of fuel and power which will come to be utilized more and more in future industry, its by-products being very valuable.

Mexican Coal Industry.
The coal mining industry in Coahuila, Mexico, is rapidly developing toward normal. About 40,000 tons of steam and railroad coal and 18,000 tons of coke are being produced and marketed monthly now.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel. Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative. No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth" now and then—a bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—and are constipated, you'll find quick, sure and only pleasant results from one or two little Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime. Thousands take one or two every night just to keep right. Try them. 10c and 50c per box. All druggists.

I saw an improvement so I bought more, and in a month my face was healed." Martin F. Pundla, 5615 Harvard St., East Liberty, Pa., June 28, 1918.

SECURITY OF PRINCIPAL

The average investor wants—first, last and all the time—nearly absolute security for his money as he can get.

It is estimated that the present wealth of the United States is $250,000,000,000. And through the taxing power of the national government that wealth is back of the bonds and notes issued by the government. The whole outstanding debt of the nation in bonds and notes, including those of the Victory-Liberty Loan is less than $25,000,000,000 less than 10 per cent of our national wealth.

To the average investor, therefore, notes or bonds of the United States government are entitled to first consideration.
There is not another security in the whole world as SAFE.

Where the Money's To Go.

One of the questions most frequently asked in connection with the Victory-Liberty Loan is: "Where is this money to go?"

Folks find it hard to understand why Uncle Sam needs so many millions of dollars more now than the war is over. Which after all isn't surprising.

But the average man fails to consider the tremendous preparation that Uncle Sam had made before the armistice was signed. He fails to understand that when the German general staff decided to surrender Uncle Sam was just about ready to begin fighting.

In getting ready he had spent money by the carload. But had prepared in a way that meant utter defeat for Germany. THE GERMAN GENERAL STAFF KNEW THIS IF WE FOLKS HERE AT HOME DIDN'T.

They knew that we had more than 2,000,000 men in France and Belgium.
That we were perfecting our airplane program. That we were producing munitions on a scale never approached by either England or France. That we were manufacturing gas shells at a rate of ten times greater than Germany could make them after four years of experience. They knew that we would have an army of 4,000,000 men by the summer of 1919.

This knowledge and the realization that they could not hope to stand up in the face of the onslaught that was ahead of them, forced the general staff to plead for peace and sign an armistice whose terms meant nothing but complete capitulation, spelled meaning short of disgrace and utter defeat.
In accomplishing this Uncle Sam had not only spent all the proceeds of the Fourth Liberty Loan and all the returns from the 1918 tax collections, but had anticipated largely the Fifth Loan and the 1919 tax income.

The fact is that much of this money has been spent already. And the fact that it was spent to such effective purpose is entirely responsible for the quick and unexpected ending of the war.

Every man who appreciates what that expenditure did; what it accomplished, how it forced the Germans to quit cold, and that there is still a big lot of overhauling bills to pay will subscribe to the Victory-Liberty Loan to the limit!

WANT TO GO FISHING.

Want to go fishing, away from the world.
And the lures that in sneering and jeering are curled;
Away from the madness and sadness
of the world;
Away from the haunts where the money is made;
Away from the haunts where the saints are;
The clamor of toll and the sighing of palm,
And rest for awhile on the banks of a stream,
And look at the sky up above me and dream.

Want to go fishing, where speech isn't words
But the thrill of and thrill of the music of birds,
Away from the dirt of and hurt of the town
And the struggle for place and the strife for renown, Away from the pavements and buildings of stone
To the temples of peace that the ages
have grown,
And rest for awhile in the shade of the trees,
And bring back my soul into tune with the breeze.

Want to go fishing, away from the surge
And the mean and unclean things of commonplace life,
Away from the bicker and clatter of men,
To the peace of a stream and the calm
of a glen,
Where fame doesn't matter and gold
doesn't count,
And the soul can break loose from its fetters and mount
To the hill tops of glory on wings of delight,
Want to go fishing, and wait for a bite.

URIC ACID IN MEAT CLOGS THE KIDNEYS

Take a Glass of Salts N Your Neck Harts or Bladder Bothers.

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid, which almost invariably clogs the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush out the body's urinous waste get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.—Adv.

QUESTION HINES' AUTHORITY

To Fix Freight and Passenger Rates; Court Asked to Determine.

The Supreme Court of the United States has been called upon to say whether the director general of railroads has the authority to fix freight and passenger rates in proceedings filed by the government on appeal from recent findings of the North Dakota Supreme Court.

In these proceedings the Northern Pacific railway and other lines were enjoined from charging increased rates and ordered, along with the director general, to show why the injunctions should not be made permanent. A move to expedite the case so that a decision may be rendered shortly has been made.

COAL PRODUCTION NEARLY ONE-THIRD BELOW THAT OF 1913

Net Week of April 12 Showed Some Improvement Over That of Week Immediately Preceding.

The output of bituminous coal during the week ended April 12, says the report of the United States Geological Survey, was a considerable improvement over the tonnage produced during the week preceding. Estimates place the current week's output at 7,417,000 net tons, as compared with 6,967,000 net tons during the week ended April 5. As in previous weeks, the current week's production fell far below that of the same week of 1913, the decrease amounting to 3,500,000 net tons, or approximately 30 per cent.

For the calendar year to date the output is estimated at 120,840,000 net tons, and falls approximately 35,000,000 net tons behind the output during the same period of last year, estimated at 155,308,000 net tons. The average production per working day during the week ended April 12 is estimated at 1,239,000 net tons, as compared with 1,272,000 net tons for this calendar year to date, and 1,765,000 net tons for the preceding year.

The production of anthracite in the United States, during the week ended April 12 is estimated at 1,750,000 net tons, and exceeds the previous week's production by one-half a million net tons, or 50 per cent, but falls behind the output of the corresponding week of last year by 120,000 net tons, or seven per cent.

The total production for the calendar year to date is estimated at 20,653,000 net tons, as compared with

LOWEST PRODUCTION

Of Bessemer Coke in Recent Years Was Recorded in Week Ended April 12.

According to the United States Geological Survey, the production of bessemer coke in the United States during the week ended April 12, is estimated at 318,458 net tons, and is the lowest production recorded in recent years. This low tonnage was approximately 31,000 net tons, or nine per cent below the production of the week preceding, and was but 55 per cent of the output of the week of April 13, 1913.

The large falling off during the current week was localized in Pennsylvania where the decrease, compared with the week preceding, amounted to approximately 27,500 net tons, or 10 per cent. West Virginia also fell behind slightly, while in the other states very little change occurred compared with the week of April 5.

The daily average during the week ended April 12 is estimated at 43,975 net tons, as compared with an average daily production for the calendar year to date of 75,504 net tons.

CORPORATIONS ARE GIVEN EXTENSION ON MAKING TAX RETURNS

June 15 is Now the Limit of Time for Filing to Avoid Penalty; Additional Payment Required.

Notice has been given by Commissioner of Internal Revenue Roper of an additional 45 days extension for the filing of complete returns in the case of corporations.

The first extension was from March 15 to May 1. In announcing the further extension to June 15, Commissioner Roper calls attention to the fact that it is to the interest of corporations to file their returns at the earliest possible moment in order to avoid the interest charge of one-half of one per cent per month. The following notice has been sent to collectors of internal revenue:

"In view of the short time between the date on which forms were available and the due date (March 15), of calendar year returns required under the Revenue Act of 1918, notice was given through the public press and otherwise that tentative returns (Forms 1031T and 1040T), accompanied by a first installment of one-fourth of the estimated tax due would be accepted on that date and that in such cases 45 days would be given in which to file complete returns, but that interest at the rate of one-half of one per cent per month upon the amounts by which such installment payments fell short of the correct amounts would be collected.

"In the case of corporations which filed Form 1030T on or before March 15, a further extension, where needed, to June 15, 1919, in which to file complete returns on Form 1120, is hereby granted, but all such corporations will be required to pay on or before June 15, a sum sufficient, with the amount paid on March 15, to equal one-half the tax due as shown by the returns on Form 1120, together with interest at the rate of one-half of one per cent per month on any deficiency in the first installment.

"It is not deemed necessary to grant an extension of time beyond the 45 days originally granted for the completion of personal returns, except on special request therefor for sufficient reasons given, but the above ruling as to interest on deficient installments applies to them.

"An extension of time in which to file returns of corporations making returns for a fiscal year ended either on January 31, or February 28, 1919, will on request be granted to June 15, 1919, but such extension shall not operate to extend the due date of any installment of tax after the first. Interest at the rate of one-half of one per cent per month will be collected from the time the first installment would have been payable if the extension had not been requested.

"The time for filing returns of information (Forms 1096 and 1099), fidelity returns (Form 1041), withholding returns (Form 1015), returns of partnership and personal service corporations required to file returns on a calendar year basis, and all other returns required under the income tax and profits tax provisions of the law, which are not the basis for the assessment of the tax, is also extended to June 15, 1919."

RAILROAD IS HELD LIABLE FOR DELAY IN ITS SHIPMENTS

When Freight Is Accepted Without Notice to Shipper That War-Time Conditions Unusual.

War-time congestion of traffic does not relieve carriers from liability for damages resulting from delays in transportation where no advance notice was given the shipper that customary dispatch could not be accorded the freight; according to a recent decision of the New York Supreme Court in which the court said:

"The question presented is whether an unusual and extraordinary congestion of traffic, existing on defendant's road at the time when goods were offered for shipment, which congestion caused a delay in the shipment of goods, constitutes a defense to liability for damages caused by such delay, especially when the defendant, at the time of accepting the goods for carriage, knew about the unusual and extraordinary congestion, and knew that it was impossible to transport freight with the usual dispatch and accepted the freight for shipment without notifying the plaintiff of such condition."

After stating that the general rules governing liability for delay were not involved and conceding that the congestion was not due to negligence on the part of the carrier, the court stated: "An entirely different rule applies when goods are accepted by a railroad company for carriage with full knowledge on its part of extraordinary and unusual congestion of traffic on its lines, so that the lines are badly congested and it is impossible for the railroad to transport freight with the usual dispatch."

"Under such circumstances," ruled the court, "it is the duty of the railroad company to advise the shipper as to the conditions within its knowledge, which are likely to delay the shipment. If it fails to do so, and accepts the goods for shipment, it will be liable for damages caused by delay growing out of such causes which are known to it when it accepts the goods for carriage. This is a reasonable rule, founded on common sense and fair dealing. The shipper should be given an opportunity to exercise his judgment as to the advisability of making the shipment after knowledge of the facts of the situation. If he is deprived of that opportunity by a failure of the railroad company to notify him of the unusual congested condition of its lines, and damages result because of delay in transportation due to such condition, the railroad company should not be permitted to excuse itself for such delay by setting up facts within its knowledge at the time when it accepted the goods for transportation."

GATES HALF TIRES SOLE TIRES

You, Too, Can Cut Your Tire Bills In Half

What One Man Has Done for the Motorist

Charles C. Gates, of Denver, found the way to divide the load your tires have to carry. He invented the Gates Half-Sole Tire—and with this invention has greatly increased tire mileage, guaranteed puncture-proof service and cut your tire bills in half.

You now can obtain double mileage by using Gates Half-Sole Tires and the scientific principles involved in their construction. You can secure 5,000 to 15,000 additional miles of tire service and save money every mile you run—just as 400,000 other car owners, including the largest business houses in the country are doing.

You can buy Gates Half-Sole Tires at any one of a thousand authorized service stations.

Remember, they are guaranteed puncture proof—yet cost only half as much as the tires now on your car. You too want that kind of tire service.

DIFFICULT COKE SITUATION HAS BEEN REMARKABLY WELL MET

Production Restrictions Have Prevented Demoralization of Market.

LITTLE LOW PRICED COKE

Anything Like Usual Demand Would Have Made Spot Prices Very Much Higher; Range in This Market Lower; Foundry Develops a Softening.

Special to The Weekly Courier.

PITTSBURGH, April 23.—The common testimony in Pittsburgh circles interested in coke is that the Conneltsville coke producers having after all met an extremely difficult situation quite well. The declines in the coke market have been striking, but still more striking has been the decline in coke consumption. The Conneltsville operations have reduced production more sharply and drastically than anyone would have thought possible. If they had not done so the market would of course have been demoralized, but the circumstances were such as easily to produce a demoralized market.

The completeness with which coke production has been curtailed to consumptive requirements is proved by the extreme lightness of coke offerings at this time. Prices down on various odd lots lately are relatively low, but the amount of coke available at such prices is so small that it would be absolutely insignificant in ordinary times. If there were any thing like the usual demand for spot coke prices for spot coke would be much higher than they are. If there had been, during the past month, one single furnace dependent entirely upon spot purchases for its operation all the odd lots would have been absorbed, preventing their being sacrificed, and the spot market today would be measurably higher than it is.

In addition to furnaces blowing out day after day, after having stopped coke shipments, perhaps a fortnight earlier, many of the furnaces have had stock piles of coke, which naturally they wished to work off. Most of this coke has been of very indifferent quality, and could be used only in a limited way, mixed with regular oven run. If the coke had been better its influence upon the market would have been more pronounced some time ago, but on the other hand it would all have been used up long since.

Spot and prompt coke has been sold in small lots in the past week at all the way from $3.50 to $3.75, and those prices may be quoted as representing the range of the "spot" market. Some brokers assert that they could buy coke at $3.50, but that is not proved. The brokers admit that at best they could do so only by having an attractive offer to offer, and this they do not have.

It develops that a number of settlements for April shipments of furnace coke under contract were made at $4.00, although the settling price in earlier cases was $4.25. There is a divergence of opinion as to which class of settlements was in the majority, the $4.00 or the $4.25 settlements. This range represents the value of furnace coke this month, the transactions in spot lots at lower prices being inconsequential in point of tonnage.

Foundry coke has softened somewhat. A large interest, making a well known brand, has revised its price from $5.50 to $4.75. Some others had made a similar revision, while one or two producers are understood still to be on a $6.00 basis. In many cases when operators reduced prices they likewise revised contracts, although ordinarily this is not the trade practice. Some indifferent brands, formerly held at $4.50, can now be had at $4.25, and these brands are quite acceptable to some foundries. Thus regular values may be quoted as follows:

Pitman ..... $4.00 @ $4.25
Pitman ..... $4.25 @ $4.50
The pig iron market is absolutely stagnant. There is no inquiry for Bessemer or basic iron, and inquiry for foundry iron is confined to very small lots, generally carloads to 100 tons. In the circumstances (furnaces have no occasion to reduce making prices, though they make no secret of the fact that if they really desirable inquiry should come up they would be only too glad to discuss prices. The market therefore remains quotable at former levels, as follows:

Bessemer ..... $27.05
Basic ..... $28.75
Malleable ..... $28.25
Foundry ..... $28.75
Forge ..... $28.75

These prices are f. o. b. Valley furnaces, freight to Pittsburgh being $1.40.

R. R. FUEL ECONOMY

Shown by the Report Submitted by U. S. the Railroad Administration.

The Railroad Administration has compiled a statement showing results in the campaign for fuel economy in 1918, which indicates in a majority of instances a saving of coal as compared with the two previous years. Total tons of coal consumed in freight train service in the year 1918 were 86,634,345 as compared with 79,454,358 in 1916, and 86,795,339 in 1917. Pounds of coal per thousand gross ton miles exceeded by 7.8 pounds the average coal used in 1916, and was practically the same as that consumed in 1917. The figure for 1918 is 199.7; for 1916, 182.1, and for 1917, 200.5.

Coal consumed in passenger train service in 1918 totaled 30,570,030 tons; in 1916, 30,494,233 tons; while in 1917, 32,583,171 tons of coal were required in this service. The average of pounds of coal per passenger train car mile in 1918 was 19.3; in 1916, 18.5, and in 1917, 19.4. In the last six months of 1918, the pounds of coal per 1,000 gross ton miles freight train service was 190.7 as compared with 201.8 in 1917, for a decrease of 5.5 per cent, and the pounds per passenger car mile were 18.2, as compared with 18.8, a decrease of 3.2 per cent.

DOES NOT LIKE NEW YORK

Fact That Would Seem Evident From Comments Made by San Francisco Writer.

New York was made by and for New Yorkers, and those that love it deserve no better fate than to live in it, writes Bailey Millard in the San Francisco Bulletin. "That babel of self-assured greatness is a terrible place to me. Carlyle called London a wen on nature's face; but what would he have said of New York, with its fervent money worship, its 'society' folk with their innate and perpetual discussion of stocks, its thousands of other idle gamblers in drawing-room and den, its thousands of lackeys in and out of livery, its other thousands of make-believes who would have you think they were somebody, and while buying $10 dinners, are letting their washwomen go unpermitted, its blinded slaves of trade in their whirling streets, so complex, multifaceted, confused!

And then its 'dandified' body' in their exclusive clothes, exclusive hats, ties and shoes who belong to exclusive sets, wholly exclusive of brains! And then its millions of half-dressed, half-starved 'people of the abyss,' living in dark, effluviated hells instead of homes, suffering the cold, un-Christian contempt of their 'betters'!

GOOD ENOUGH.

Collection money was to little Tommy one of the essentials of church-going. Every Sunday morning he saw that his penny was ready.

One day, just as the ushers began to take the collection, Tommy noticed that a guest in the family pew was not duly provided. Sliding along the seat he whispered:

"Where's your penny?"

"I didn't bring one," replied the lady.

Time was short and the matter was urgent. But Tommy was a quick-witted kiddie. Throwing his penny into the lady's hand, he whispered:

"Here, take mine! I'll pay for you and I'll get under the seat!"

The Vanishing Point.
"Mighty small quantity you gave me for 10 cents."
"You wouldn't have gotten anything if you hadn't brought your own bottle," the drug clerk replied.

Missionary Work.
"Any long speeches is your campaign?"
"I should say so," replied Senator Borah.
"Some of my constituents have talked to me by the hour."

A Bald Statement.

The MONEY IS SPENT

These billions of dollars which must be raised by the Victory Liberty Loan drive have all been spent. Uncle Sam is just calling them in now to pay the debts incurred in their name.

Munitions which effected our Victory—transportation home from Europe of millions of our boys—food for them while they are there—clothes for those not yet home—surgery and nurses for the wounded—these are a few of the things the Victory Liberty Loan has already bought and will pay for.

They are not debts you would care to repudiate.

Capes and More Capes

Designers are still turning out wraps that are the result of combining two distinctly different styles into one garment. This is an idea carried over from winter into spring wraps, and so long as it holds there is no chance of exhausting the endless variety of cape-coats, cape-dresses and all other sorts of capes that make a refreshing digression from coats. (There is variety enough to suit the taste of every individual in wraps as in all other spring clothes, and nearly all of them are graceful and practical.)

In the picture a cape appears, gathered to a short plain yoke and having small, set-in sleeves, or openings for the arms, to distinguish it from a cape unaltered with any other wrap. It has a flat hood effect at the back, with a little braid trimming and a long tassel that points with pride to its value as a folk. This cape is narrow at the bottom by folding it into a box plait, fastened down with bone buttons; this is in keeping with the narrow skirts of this season.

The other wrap pictured is much like a dolman. Small cloth-covered buttons and large fancy ones are cleverly placed on it, for the smaller ones appear to fasten down box plaits that form a square yoke. This is one of a few models that are shorter in the back than in front. The collar and sleeve openings are faced with a heavy weave in silk in a contrasting color. Duvetyn and velours in navy and black, with facings in beige silk, make the handsomest of these wraps.

FAMOUS PEACE TREATIES

By H. IRVING KING

(Copyright, 1919, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

THE HOLY ALLIANCE, 1815.

Emperor Alexander of Russia Was Preparing an Alliance, the Plan of Which Was Conceived on the Most Altruistic Lines.

While the "prosperous destinies of Europe" were being settled at the Congress of Vienna amid conflicting interests in 1814-15—while, in short, the peace delegates of the European nations were endeavoring to straighten matters out after the Napoleonic wars, just as the delegates at the Quai d'Orsay are now assembled to straighten matters out as a conclusion to the recent war, an idealist in the person of Emperor Alexander of Russia was preparing an alliance the plan of which was conceived on the most altruistic lines and which, he fondly hoped, would bring eternal peace to the world. It was not only to be a league to enforce peace between the nations, but was to lay down certain principles which should insure peace, and prosperity within the borders of the nations. This was the Holy Alliance.

Emperor Alexander at that time was under the influence of a mystic. It seems that there was an "occult party" about the Russian throne then, just as there was in the recent days of the late Emperor Nicholas. Emperor Alexander declared that there should be an alliance of nations founded upon higher principles than those which had heretofore guided the councils of princes and labored assiduously to obtain converts to his plan. By a proclamation issued at St. Petersburg dated "on the day of the birth of our Savior, 25, December, 1815" the czar ordered that in all the churches a "convention" concluded at Paris on the 25th of September, 1815, between the emperors of Russia and Austria and the king of Prussia.

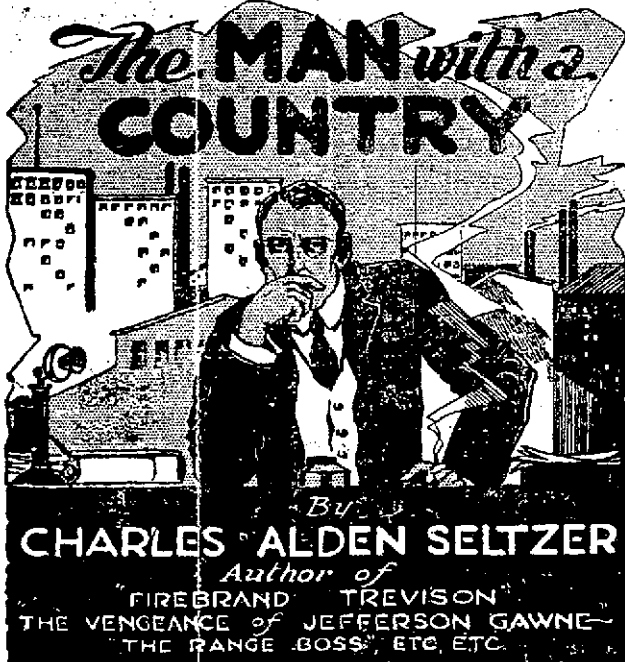

Object in Forming League.
In these three sovereigns solemnly declared that they had "no other object in forming the league except to publish to the whole world the fact that in the administration of their respective governments, as well as in their relations with foreign states," they would take for their sole guidance the precepts of the Christian religion, namely, justice, charity and peace. By its terms the signatory nations were to keep peace with each other and generally see that peace was not disturbed throughout the world.

Enunciation of Monroe Doctrine.
At this congress of the Holy Alliance at Verona the proposition was made, and agitated, but not brought to a vote, that the armies of the alliance should cross the seas and effect a conquest of the revolted American colonies of Spain. When the news of this reached England, Canning, British secretary of foreign affairs, wrote to Mr. Rush, American minister to England. Mr. Rush wrote to President Monroe and the result was the enunciation of the Monroe doctrine.

The idea of the Holy Alliance, as Emperor Alexander planned it, was sublime. But it worked in a diametrically opposite manner from what he intended. Perhaps its provisions were too vaguely drawn—perhaps the world was not ready for it. After the congress of Verona it began to "petrify," and ceased to exist in 1830.

It's Money Well Invested

Corwin nodded. "Everybody seems to have heard it," he replied. He smiled, calling Robert's attention to the little groups of Falltown's citizens who were eagerly discussing the new phase of the international situation. Newsboys were shouting the momentous intelligence, dining it into the ears of probable customers; men were shouting to one another; a street car, packed with grim-faced, eager-eyed men; the town seemed to have shaken off its mid-day lethargy, and was humming and throbbing with life.

Roberts smiled mirthlessly. "They'll be singing a different tune after a while," he said. "It is no joke, this war business. Why doesn't America keep out of it? What have we to gain through a war with Germany?"

Corwin was disappointed. He had expected Roberts to be enthusiastic over the prospect of war. For he had been led to believe that enormous profits were to be made in the manufacture of war munitions, and he knew Roberts' company was well equipped for such work. If Roberts had declared for war, Corwin would have been able to throw off the dulling influence of Gary Miller's words.

There was a slight venom in Rob-

"Little groups of citizens were eagerly discussing the news."

"I had an idea you'd be eager to participate in the war profits," suggested Corwin.

"That's the soul of America," snapped Roberts. "Money—always money. I shan't turn out a piece of war material—unless I am forced. This is England's war—let England fight it. Germany is friendly to America. Then why should America antagonize Germany? There are great many Germans in America. Their influence is enormous, and I hope they exert that influence to defeat the commercial plates who are forcing this declaration upon Germany. Already they are talking of a bonus issue. The country should not finance such a war, and I hope the first bond issue will be a failure. That would force a quick peace and save thousands of our boys from being slaughtered for financial gain."

Corwin did not argue with Roberts—he had no heart for argument. And when he left Roberts' office, he did not seem to settle on his shoulders after leaving Gary Miller bore upon him more heavily than ever.

He began to wonder if Miller and Roberts were not right, after all. It did seem, now that he reflected over the matter, that there was slight occasion for the action of the President in plunging the country into war. A former president of the republic had warned his countrymen of the danger of making entangling alliances with foreign powers; and here was the present President disregarding that sage advice.

A feeling of resentment stole over Corwin. The President's attitude hinted strongly of autocracy. It seemed to Corwin that a declaration of war must have been decided. Corwin began to pick flaws in the President's diplomacy; he reflected cynically that the President was not of his political faith, and that he might be bringing on the war at the behest of powerful commercial interests that thirsted for enormous profits. Then from this fabric of suspicion he began to pluck strands—in the shape of rumored irregularities in administration affairs in Washington—that he wove into plausible beliefs.

There were several members of the President's cabinet that Corwin did not like—he had always thought them incompetent. If there was to be a war, why did not the President force the resignation of these men?

Within half an hour, meditating alone in his office, Corwin became a narrow partisan—convinced that his political party was able to conduct a war more efficiently than the one headed by the President. Feeding his partisanship with incidents that seemed to prove the soundness of his conviction, Corwin became, within an hour, a dissenter from all the principles enunciated by the President in his war message—and in his public utterances.

A hot rage seized Corwin; and he laughed, scoffingly. War! The idea was monstrous. Why declare war on Germany? Why, indeed? Miller was right; Roberts was right. The President was making a terrible blunder. The jingoes and war-profiteers were actuating this thing, and they had won the President to their side. It wasn't a question of patriotism, for Germany had not threatened to invade America; and the surest and quickest way to convince the President and the world that the great body of the American people could not be fooled by such buncombe was to refuse to finance such a war.

When Molly King, Corwin's stenographer, came in a few minutes later, her face was flushed, her eyes were bright and there was an air of suppressed excitement in her manner. She went immediately to her desk; but instantly wheeled in her chair and faced Corwin.

"Did you hear the news, Mr. Corwin? America will declare war on Germany!"

Corwin grinned cynically at her. "Boosh!" he said. "Why should America interfere?"

The girl gasped and stared at Corwin in amazement. Then, when she saw Corwin was in earnest, she raised her chin defiantly.

"Because America is America, Mr. Corwin," she returned, coldly. "If America did not go in, now! I should never be able to look another foreigner in the eyes!"

She flounced around in her chair and began to bang the keys of her typewriter with a viciousness that startled Corwin. The girl's sturdy patriotism was in striking contrast to his own feelings, and for a long time he sat, watching her, oppressed with a sensation of guilt—of something shameful and clandestine and unworthy.

CHAPTER III

CORWIN was astonished to discover that most of his friends were either opposed to war with Germany or were lukewarm toward it. So he gathered that it was not popular war. His own feelings had not changed—except that his convictions had deepened. When the poison of distrust of the President and his official family had got into his veins it had changed him overnight.

It was easy to pick flaws in every public utterance of the President; the mistakes of the men appointing to responsible positions were so glaringly apparent that they aroused in Corwin a grim contempt for the entire war structure. Men were being called to Washington in huge numbers to take charge of various departments—newly created. It seemed to Corwin that these men were chosen, not because of their special fitness, but because they were influential in politics. Corwin foresaw many opportunities for graft, and he had no doubt that the entire war-organization would be honeycombed with it. So, as the days fled and he continued to nurse his distrust, he observed with sardonic satisfaction that inefficiency was to reign in the Falltown Liberty Loan campaign.

Miller told him that the Central Liberty Loan Committee of the district had appointed Bernard Dillon chairman of the Falltown Committee.

Corwin flushed angrily. He and Dillon were not friendly. He knew of no good reason why Dillon should not have the appointment, and he could not have denied that Dillon was a competent man. But he disliked the man, and was convinced that there were more capable men in Falltown.

He saw Miller looking keenly at him—understandingly.

"Well," laughed Miller; "I suppose they could have done better. Not that I don't like Dillon. It's nothing personal, you understand; but he's a fellow that a man can't warm to." Miller's voice grew grave. "The loan is to be two billion. They can't raise it! Why, it's more money than the Government ever spent to two years. It didn't cost much more than that to finance the Civil War. And they talk of spending that amount within a few months!"

Miller was not the only resident of Falltown to express his convictions. During the days that followed the talk with the banker, Corwin hearkened much to the voice of discontent. The fault-finder was omnipresent; his voice was raised in the office, the factory; in the groups that formed on the street corners; there was an undercurrent of dissatisfaction, which created a savage joy in Corwin's heart. For he considered the dissatisfaction to be directed at the party in power—

It was an expression of distrust, a protest against the huge blunder of waging war upon a foreign power which was thousands of miles distant. It wasn't necessary to go to war; it wasn't necessary to spend that vast amount of money; it was a heinous crime to send millions of men to meet death upon a foreign field merely to uphold an ideal.

One night, standing at the fringe of a crowd that was listening attentively to a wildly-gesticulating man who stood on a wooden box, Corwin heard the principles of the Socialist Party expounded. Until now, Corwin had considered the Socialists rabble-brained radicals intent upon the dismemberment of the Government. But by the time the man had finished Corwin felt there was some virtue in the Socialist platform, after all.

He was astonished that he should admit it, but the man had created an impression upon him. The appeal of the orator had been made to the passions, to the elemental in man which is irritated by all authority. Wars were criminal, the orator said; the solution of the world-difficulties was the adoption of the doctrine of "the brotherhood of man." A draft was imminent, the orator said; and he advised all men to resist it—in the point of revolution, if necessary.

Also, the orator had something to say about bonds. They, too, were evil. There could be no war if the people refused to finance it. The rich men of the country were behind it all—the poor did not want war—they would not have it.

At this point the orator's speech there came an interruption. A sliver, strong-faced man who stood near Corwin raised his voice angrily: "Bah!" he yelled at the orator; "how much does the Kaiser pay you for shooting off your mouth?"

There was a laugh, some hisses, and some applause for the interrupter. Then suddenly the crowd began to move. There were shouts, hoarse impressions, blows.

In an instant turmoil reigned. The crowd became a huge blot animated by swirling arms, and articulate with curses and infuriated yells. Corwin saw the interrupter, a grim smile on his face, drive into the press, swinging his arms like a ball. His jaw muscles went down under the man's blows; and as Corwin ran for a position of safety he mentally remarked that the expression of the man's face was much like that which had been upon the face of his stenographer when she had told him: "Because America is America!"

He divined that the fighting instinct in the stenographer was as strong as that which had driven the strong-faced man to grapple with the friends of the orator.

However, this incident strengthened Corwin's conviction that the country did not want war. And when from his position of safety he saw policemen fighting their way into the crowd, dispersing it, and arresting some of the disturbers, he cynically remarked to a bystander that the incident proved that the workers of the world had no voice in the policies of their governments—liberty of speech was even denied them. And when, the next morning, Corwin heard that the offenders—the orator especially—had been accused of treason, he grinned sardoniously.

Suddenly, Corwin noted the preparations for the first Liberty Loan campaign. He heard rumors that the committee had examined into every man's resources, and that every citizen of Falltown was expected to buy bonds to the extent of his means. On the streets—in the shapes of placard and poster—were handbills and stickers—appeared the slogan:

"Send Falltown over the top." Advertisements began to appear in the Observer—pointed paragraphs were there, appealing to the patriotism of Falltown's citizens. And on the morning when the loan campaign was launched, Corwin drove to his office in his closed car, grinning to be greeted by the workers that thronged the streets.

Corwin had got down early, and after he opened his desk he sat there for a long time, thinking of the young man who had sneered at the speaker some nights before.

The young man's face had made a deep impression on him; he could see his fellow plainly—grinning his contempt and handbill and sticker—appeared the slogan:

There had been no decision in the young man's manner; he had exhibited a savage eagerness to punish the agitator who had tried to spread the doctrine of treason.

The young man was a force, a symbol of Americanism; he was exactly the type of man that had long been Corwin's ideal—a fighter taking no thought of consequences.

PETE KILDUFF PROVED HE WAS CLEAN-UP MAN

Peterkin Kilduff of the Cubs says that some naval officers have too keen a sense of comedy. Mr. Kilduff, all in his navy blue arrayed, dressed up just like a horse, was promenadeing by the rail of his battleship, when an officer hailed him.

"Young man," said the officer, "you are Kilduff, the noted ball player of the Chicago Cubs, are you not?"

"Aye, aye, sir!" saluted Mr. Kilduff.

"Ah, yes," resumed the officer. "You were, I believe, so highly regarded by the management that they made you the clean-up man?"

"Aye, aye, sir!" replied the flattered Mr. Kilduff.

"Then," said the officer, "you are just the man I'm looking for. Take this putt and clean up this deck!"

WHAT ABOUT ROGERS HORNSBY THIS YEAR?

Fans Asking Each Other If He Will Step Up to Old Gait.

Cardinal Shortstop Given Big Increase in Salary by Jack Hendricks Fell Into Slump—Rickey Expected to Get Results.

What about Rogers Hornsby in the 1919 campaign to the National League? National league fans are asking each other whether Rogers will step up to his real gait this coming season or whether he will continue in the slump he suffered last season.

Hornsby joined the Cardinals in 1915, but did not receive very much of a chance to get going. But in 1916 he stepped right out in front. He was the very life of the attack and defense of the team. His general work at shortstop and his batting made him the most talked of player in the circuit, if not in the majors.

The next season he let out another notch and again burned up the league. He batted .327 and finished second to Rogers Hornsby. Eddie Roscoe of the Cincinnati Reds, who pulled down the batting title.

When the 1918 season started scribbles asked, "Where will Hornsby stop?" Rog asked for a big increase in salary and got it. Jack Hendricks took hold of the team that spring. It never will be known exactly whether it was the big pay and publicity of two seasons or his inability to get along with Jack Hendricks that caused Rogers to slump.

Now Hornsby will play under Branch Rickey this coming season. Rickey and Hornsby will get along. Rickey is the kind of a manager who can talk to the youngster and get results.

If Hornsby hits his old stride again next summer—if he takes the lead in batting and infield work most fans will blame his year's lapse on Jack Hendricks. Hendricks, being out of the big pay and publicity of two seasons or his inability to get along with Jack Hendricks that caused Rogers to slump.

It will be interesting to watch the Cardinal star.

Only American goods will be used. It was stated, as sample baseballs furnished by foreign manufacturers burst after two or three sound whacks, bats shattered easily and boxing gloves fell apart after brief service.

Why Lawn is Called 'Lawn.' Years ago the Dutch excelled all other peoples in the bleached linens they sent forth. That was in a time, of course, when bleached linen was considered a luxury. The Dutch gained their fame for this excellence because they had a wonderful system of treating the muslin to make it white.

To begin with, they treated it to bleaches and acids of various sorts; and then they placed it on bleaching lawns, or green where it lay at intervals from March to September. The white material thus produced took the name of the lawns whereon it was bleached—at least, so goes the story.

A SUMMER NEGLIGEE

An exceedingly plain little frock, cut from the palest of sunset crepe-de-chines and girlish about with a bit of lavender sash, has taken to itself a flounce of lace for overskirt and a marvelous little jacket all of a piece of lace that reaches into a train on both sides and is cut short at the back by that bit of baby bear fur. Behold to what heights an ambitious but plain little frock can attain!

Unstated Emergency Ration.

A correspondent, writing from the front before the fighting came to an end, said that the emergency ration supplied to our soldiers still remained a mystery to them. Few indeed have even tasted this scientific life-saver of which the army boards are so proud.

It looks like ground oatmeal; but it is said to be the last word in concentrated calories and protein. It contains the juices and sustaining parts of all meats and vegetables known to man, with a little gluten thrown in. Most soldiers have not dared to taste it. A court martial threatens anyone who eats the emergency ration unnecessarily, and almost never, so they say, did any soldier find it necessary. Hot meals from rolling kitchens were virtually always to be had.—Youth's Companion.

SENIOR NOTES.

(By Charles Shultz)
Bulletins describing the courses offered by the different schools of the University of Pittsburgh have been received by the Seniors. The bulletins were sent to those Seniors who signed the cards that were recently distributed among the class by Norman McLeod, representing the University. Quite a few C. H. S. graduates are now attending Pitt.

A call has been issued by those in charge of the class day exercises for the class songs. Any one in the Senior class is eligible to write the songs and all are urged to make a try at it. One song is to be sung the last morning in chapel and the other from the stage during class day exercises. The words must be original and may be set either to original music or any well known tune.

"In describing a field in Milton's Minor Poems, the author says: 'Meadows trim with daisies pied.' It was at that point John Moore said to Miss Armstrong: 'Did you ever see a daisy pied?'"

Seniors, it is up to us to set the pace in the 100 per cent bond purchase of the High School. Let us make that pace a lively one.

THE SOISON.

"THE DEATH DANCE"—A Select picture, with Alice Brady, the charming screen star, appearing in one of the best roles of her screen career, is being shown today. The story deals with Flora Farnsworth, a dancing girl, for which role Miss Brady devoted much time to the mastering of a difficult character dance. Arnold Matland, embittered because his wife is conducting an affair with Borecky, a dancer in a cabaret, visits the restaurant to have it out with him, and becomes enamored of Flora, who is in the company. He makes a wager that he can win her in two months, but later realizes that she is different and that he really loves her. Having made it possible for Flora to study music, he plans to take her abroad, so that his desertion may be used by his wife as grounds for a divorce. Matland is killed that night before he and Flora are to sail and he gives the evidence papers to Flora just before he dies. Then Flora accepts the position as Borecky's partner, while Cynthia, friend of her old paramour, sets her cap for Matland's partner, Philip Standish. Borecky falls in love with Flora and she, meeting Philip Standish, promises to marry him. Matland Hamilton, E. E. Herbert, Helen Montrose and other screen stars of prominence are seen in the support of Miss Brady. A selected comedy is also being shown.

DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF THE STUDENTS.

EDITORIAL.

The Victory-Liberty Loan penetrated the High School with a crash Monday morning. This is not saying that C. H. S. expected to be immune from this drive or has been from any of the previous ones, but we certainly did not think that C. H. S. would be recognized and called upon to play such an important part in this drive.

The local committee in charge of the drive sent Mr. George Rankin of Wilkesburg to speak to the High School students and tell them why they have been called upon again. We learned from Mr. Rankin's speech and since have had outlined in detail by Principal Smith that it is the High School students who will be expected to stimulate and arouse the people's interest in this drive.

The committee made a wise choice when they selected the High School students as their means to do this, for where else in the city is there such a widely distributed group of people who can carry the message home to their parents and tell them why they should buy bonds?

Another attraction which will tend to make the students take over more interest in the drive was explained by Principal Smith, Tuesday morning. The event will be a contest between C. H. S. and the Uniontown High School for a German war helmet that is to be given by the government to the school that has the highest percentage of bonds bought by the families of its students.

This helmet will be one of many such trophies that will be used all over the United States for this purpose. This will be the first trial of strength that the two schools have had for quite a few years and nothing aroused interest in C. H. S. more than this announcement. Our motto has been set at the hundred per cent mark and to gain this trophy we must work. Need we say more, students?

High School students enjoyed another half day vacation Monday when school dismissed at 12:30 o'clock, and everyone went to see the tank performance.

Aesop's fables may not have much meaning to a few students of C. H. S., but when the majority of them recall the fable of the race between the tortoise and the hare they will find a good moral to keep in mind in the race with the Uniontown High School.

Yesterday the basket ball team presented Coach Fred A. Bode with a handsome gold watch in remembrance of the basket ball season recently ended. The presentation speech was made by Captain John Moore.

Quite a few C. H. S. graduates who are attending college and were recently home enjoying their Easter vacation visited C. H. S. and renewed old acquaintances this week. Among the "celebrities" were Dana Wright of U. of P., Norwood S. Floto, an ex-editor of the Tiger, and Harold R. Stauffer, who is now attending the Staunton Military Academy.

Rehearsals for "Pocahontas" have been going full swing for the last week and everyone is fast being put into shape for the performance next Friday. "Pocahontas" is guaranteed by the students themselves to be a greater success than any musical show which has been staged before by amateurs in the city. All they ask is a chance to prove it. You can give them that opportunity by attending the performance next Friday evening.

The newly organized volley ball teams of the High School have already begun practicing in the gymnasium. Definite dates have not been set as yet for the games. The games will be played between six independent teams recently organized and will take the place of basket ball for the spring season.

THE PARAMOUNT.

"THE GHOST OF THE RANGHO"—A Partic play of five reels, with Bryant Washburn, supported by Rheta Mitchell, in the leading role, is being shown today. Mr. Washburn appears as Jeffrey Wall, the spendthrift grandson of a millionaire. He gets in a brawl with a Mexican dancer over his partner, Mary Drew. A gun is drawn and in the scuffle one of Jeffrey's friends falls unconscious to the floor. The Mexican escapes and Jeffrey pursues, vowing never to return until he has avenged his friend. In Mexico he lands at a station, where since the death of her father, Mary has oper-

SOPHOMORE SAYINGS.

(By Ruth Clark)
The Sophomore Literary Society did not hold its regular meeting on account of the rehearsals in the auditorium for the play "Pocahontas."

Miss Delin—"Emma Jean, translate."
Emma Jean—"And the river flew into the ocean."

Florence Rowe has an unlucky locker. She breaks a mirror there at least every other day. The other day, however, she "steered clear" of it with her mirror tightly clasped in her arm. Half way up the aisle the mirror fell, and Florence murmured softly—"Just another little dime."

The editors may dig to think.
Fill their finger tips are sore.
But some poor boob is sure to say—
"Aw, I've heard that joke before."

Girls, beware! Mary Rohm is collecting masculine pictures from Caesar books, etc. She already has five. So girls hold onto yours.

Leulla was translating Caesar from sight. She came to a word she didn't know. Miss Delin wished to help her said: "What are your lessons when you finish them?"
Leulla: "Perfect."
We think Leulla has become conceited. The correct word was "accomplished." Wouldn't it be fine if we all could say that our lessons are "perfect" when finished?

His retreat is an old ranch house once occupied by a religious fanatic. The Mexican killed him and took possession of his home. Therefore spreading the story that the house was haunted in order to keep the curious away. Jeffrey, however, is not so easily frightened. He learns of the plot, and also learns that the Mexican had kidnapped Mary. Notifying the sheriff, he dresses himself in a sheet and pillow case, frightening the Mexican's henchman away, and making the leader captive. He turns him over to the law. Jeffrey's surprise comes when his grandfather comes with the man he thought murdered Monday Viola Deza will be featured in "Satan, Jr."

Warm Spring Days Usher in New Fashioned Summer Wraps

THEY ARE newly fashioned, appropriate for present wear and then, very often on a mid-summers evening one has occasion to wear a light wrap.

Capes and Dolmans have chosen silks, satins and jerseys as the fabric best suited for summer wear. They come in many gorgeous colorings that make them especially charming for afternoon or evening.

A Dolman wrap of dust shade silk duvetyne, with sailor collar and gold colored pussy-willow silk lining is one of the most beautiful wraps the season has brought forth. This severely plain model has the exclusiveness and dignity of design that make it especially appealing to anyone who admires the more exclusive things. This Dolman now carries a special pricing of $110, having been reduced from $150.

Beige and French blue wool jersey have been charmingly fashioned in a new cape. Beige, the predominant color, is in a delightful contrast with a throw collar of French blue that runs in 3 little beige and blue silk cord ornaments. The beige vestee has French blue for the button hole edging and trim around pockets. Bright silver buttons and a string belt of beige and blue complete this charming wrap. The price is $49.75.

Another model at $49.75 takes navy blue satin for its fabric and has a wide round collar slightly gathered at the neck. The vestee has two small pockets with little satin covered buttons in a single row, to emphasize the simplicity of the design. The lining is of a ray blue and white printed satin, and the smartness of style is impressed by the cape, being a bit shorter than usual.

There are many other styles in satin, rayon, moon-glo satin, velvetine, and faile silk; while in the wool materials silverstone cover, crystal card, tricotine, point twill, spring velvet, serge and gaberdine may be chosen from an endless variety of attractive styles. Prices start at $19.95, $15.00 and upwards to $119.00.

Many Women Prefer Suits of Serge

WE HAVE provided an excellent variety of serge suits that are stylish and serviceable. With spring really and truly here the suit season is just beginning. Most women can hardly get along without a new suit during the next few months. Among the newest are:

A Russian blouse suit with a heavy silk cord sash, has a vest of blue and white silk jersey with pointed pussy-willow silk hangings. Pin tucks decorate the blouse and finish the sleeves at the wrist. This model expresses originality and is priced at $65.00.

Another Russian blouse model carries a price of $45.00. A string belt finishes the blouse effect and a vest of henna shade tricotine adds a pleasing touch of color. Henna and black silk braid are used in an original embroidery design, making this model rather individual.

We have not neglected to provide for those whose taste dictates some material other than serge. There are many tailored, semi-tailored, belted blouse and box models of point twill gaberdine, tricotine, velvet and silverstone. The choosing is especially good at $35.00, $39.75 and $45.00.
